

With approximately 480 employees, KLK Kolb is one of the leading alkoxylation companies in Europe and offers a wide range of surfactants, chemical specialities, paper process chemicals and customer-specific products for various industries. KLK Kolb is a member of the global KLK OLEO Group. We sell our products worldwide and currently have three manufacturing sites in the heart of Europe (Hedingen/CH, Moerdijk/NL and Delden/NL).

To support our continued successful growth we are looking for a motivated, proactive, creative and independently thinking personality in the function of

Trainee (in the Product Management)

Job description

- Involvement in the product life cycle from A to Z
- Portfolio development and maintenance: active involvement in the development and improvement process
- Involvement in maintaining and revising the current product portfolio
- Responsible in a supervisory capacity with regard to the concept development and market launch of formulation proposals
- Development of product/market competence
- Assisting the implementation of introduction processes for new products
- Providing technical input and support for the generation of all kinds of sales documents (posters, brochures, flyers, presentations, trade fair items)
- Processing technical complaints

Desired skills and experience

- Training in chemistry. Knowledge in the field of surfactants is especially desirable
- Experience and creativity with websites (e.g. with Wordpress)
- Good analytical skills; self-reliant activity with a high level of personal initiative
- Very good knowledge of German and English

Our offer

- A challenging, versatile and responsible job in a rapidly growing international company
- A professional, established organisation with an open and creative working environment
- Personal and professional development opportunities
- Attractive employment conditions

We are interested in a long-term collaboration (no short-term relationship). Are you? We look forward to receiving your application by email to Ms Angela Hartmann at: job@kolb.ch

Only direct applications will be considered.