

dimp^ora

Product Manager, internship, 50-100%

Location: ETH Zurich Hönggerberg campus, Zurich, Switzerland

Starting time: flexible

Duration: 3 months or more, with possibility of prolongation/ full time

Who we are:

We are producing eco-friendly fluorine-free, breathable and waterproof membranes for the outdoor textile industry. We are working closely with outdoor brands to develop the perfect new seamless functional membrane. For more information, visit our website: www.dimpora.com

What we offer:

- Developing new products in partnership with bigger industries
- Get to know the start-up world and its exciting dynamic
- Work with a team of young professionals
- Develop a product strategy from scratch in close collaboration with the founders

Responsibilities:

- Interact with the customer, find needs and generate solutions
- Develop R&D, marketing and sales plans based on the customers needs
- Interact with internal R&D and external production partners
- Guide production
- Establish product specific communication (technical and possibly marketing)

Requirements:

- Excellent verbal and written communication skills in English and German
- Strong motivation to tackle challenges and eager to contribute to the success of dimpora
- Flexibility in changing challenges, quick learner
- Team player
- Bachelor or Master degree in Science
- Experience/interest in business development

How to apply:

send your CV and motivation E-Mail/letter to Dr. Mario Stucki: info@dimpora.com