Start: September 2020, limited to 2 years (202937)

A career at our company is an ongoing journey of discovery: our around 56,000 people are shaping how the world lives, works and plays through next generation advancements in healthcare, life science and performance materials. For more than 350 years and across the world we have passionately pursued our curiosity to find novel and vibrant ways of enhancing the lives of others.

Your role:

The Global Graduate Program (GGP) is the company's career accelerator for high potential graduates who are early in their careers. During the 24-month program, you will experience a mix of strategic management consulting projects as well as operational rotational stations in different divisions. In the first year, you will be working in the Inhouse Consulting team. Inhouse Consulting projects focus primarily on strategy, growth, as well as operational optimization, and our internal clients are typically senior-level executives within the company. You will also participate in targeted professional trainings as well as our coaching & mentoring program to continuously improve your technical expertise and business acumen. In the second year, you will be working on several assignments within our divisions. Depending on our business needs and your preference, you'll get the chance to gain in-depth knowledge of the day-to-day operations of different functions and also to gain first expert knowledge to focus on topics or functions of your interest, such as marketing, medical, R&D, production, strategic management, and venture capital among others. Each assignment will last three to four months, with one international assignment. After successfully completing this program, you will move into an exciting role within one of our businesses.

Who you are:

- Minimum educational requirement is a Master's degree (PhD is a plus) in science or engineering AND a secondary qualification in business (e.g. through business degrees or classes, participation in extra-curricular activities, and/or internships experience); OR vice versa and
- Outstanding academic achievements
- Ideally two demanding consulting or industry-related internships & international experience
- Strong analytical skills, profound knowledge of MS Office
- English skills essential, German is a plus
